		Desc: 1 hour in-person drafting session for 2015 graduates, i.e. seniors applying fall 2014. Using the Common Application (CA) Essay Prompts as springboards, we will work together to find a topic that satisfies a prompt, engages the reader and feels honest to the student/applicant. My background in pr, marketing and branding as well as years spent as a writing teacher come into play when I look at a student's dossier. The CA Essay shouldn't be a reiteration of what's already obvious from test scores, grades, teacher recommendations, outside interests, summer experiences, sports achievements, etc. Rather, a good essay adds dimension, character and personality to a student's application. In this hour, I will help your child get started on the CA Essay process!

61		2 Books - New in sealed packages Desc: Picasso and American Art by Michael FitzGerald and Julia May Boddewyn Published for the Whitney Museum of Art Value: $55.00 Many American artists throughout the 20th century designated Pablo Picasso as the central figure of the modern movement and defined their own artistic achievements through their absorption, critique, or rejection of his example. Picasso and American Art is a groundbreaking publication juxtaposing works by Picasso with the paintings, sculptures, and drawings created in response by an extremely diverse group of his contemporaries and successors, including Max Weber, Stuart Davis, Arshile Gorky, John Graham, Willem de Kooning, Jackson Pollock, David Smith, Roy Lichtenstein, and Jasper Johns. Based on extensive research, Michael FitzGerald's text provides valuable new information on the fundamental role that Picasso played in the development of modern American art--both through his friendships with individual artists and through the dissemination of his evolving work. This book also documents, for the first time, the accessibility of Picasso's work in the United States between 1911 and 1957 in exhibitions, collections, and publications through a comprehensive chronology. This unique book is essential for anyone interested in either Picasso or American art of the 20th century. Dining At Delmonico's: The Story of America's Oldest Restaurant by Judith Choate and James Canora Value: $45.00 The name Delmonico's is synonymous with fine dining. Ever since the establishment--the country's first real restaurant--opened its doors in Manhattan's Financial District in 1837, Delmonico's has been showing Americans just what it means to eat well. Delmonico's was where American diners were introduced to some of our most beloved dishes: Lobster à la Newburg, Eggs Benedict, Manhattan Clam Chowder, Baked Alaska. Many were created in Delmonico's kitchen by New York's first star chef, Charles Ranhofer; others were popularized here. And always heading the bill of fare was the Delmonico's Steak--an unbelievably succulent 20-ounce prime rib-eye, grilled to perfection and topped with herbed butter--which remains the gold standard that other steakhouses try to emulate. Delmonico's history is one of "firsts": the first American restaurant to use tablecloths, to offer private dining rooms, to furnish a separate wine list, to admit women diners, and to re-envision haute cuisine for the American palate. That tradition of exquisite food served in a luxurious setting continues to flourish today. Now, Dining at Delmonico's invites the home cook into the restaurant's legendary kitchen, providing more than 80 recipes that let you re-create the gastronomic glories of Delmonico's dining room for your own table. Restr: I chair the BOT of the Alumni Assn. and am pleased to help your wonderful work for the school. IS THERE A MANHATTAN LOCATION THAT I CAN BRING THE BOOKS TO?				No		$100
